Toronto, Canada - Two MRO companies form regional partnership, offering enhanced support solutions to Airlines in Africa, Middle East and Asia/Pacific.

Global Aerospace Corporation and Skyways Technics A/S today announced a new regional partnership agreement.

Under the terms of the agreement, Skyways Technics A/S becomes the exclusive sales and marketing partner of Global Aerospace Corporation in Africa, Middle East and Asia/Pacific.

From its locations in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, and Dubai, UAE, Skyways Technics A/S will be offering airlines in the regions repair and overhaul of:

- Landing Gears
- Air Cycle Machines
- Pneumatic valves

General Manager of Global Aerospace Corporation, Scott Adams said:

“Global Aerospace Corporation is proud to team up with Skyways Technics, a leading provider of regional aircraft maintenance. Together, our partnership will provide alternative cost saving component MRO solutions for aircraft operators in the Asia Pacific, Africa and Middle East regions. We are excited to expand our already strong relationship with such a recognized maintenance provider and look forward to working with their people in 2018 and beyond.”

Business Development Director of Skyways Technics A/S, Kieran Wandahl Lass said:

“Our team at Skyways Technics A/S is extremely excited and honored to bring the relationship with Global Aerospace Corporation to the next level. Our partnership is founded on strong support and high-quality solutions year after year.”

He continued

“Being in Kuala Lumpur and Dubai has already enabled unique opportunities to serve ATR operators in the regions, with solutions often designed to fit individual needs. The partnership with Global Aerospace Corporation gives us the ability to increase and enhance the support solutions available to both current and new operators of ATR - as well as expanding into other aircraft models.”
